Holiday party image projection

It's the Holidays. A time to share. So, share a view of yourself, and some views of the world around you. Bring in a self image. Be as creative as you like, and in good taste. Also bring in 4 or 5 other images of anything you would like to share. However, please be able to tell us a little something about each image. For example, "I was on vacation and saw this view of the Vice President heading for his bunker. Something must be up!", or "I took this in my back yard. That albino moose visits our bird bath every Wednesday!". Your comment does not have to be that exciting, but please tell us a little about the subject and the place you captured the image. The image can be a traditional slide or a digital image."
